USACE Seattle District Contracting Roundtable

Please join the Seattle District contracting team and the SAME Seattle Post for our second interactive discussion on A/E and Construction contracting with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The intent of the discussion is to help educate our membership on the contract preparation and selection process. Ms. Patricia Blackwood and her team are looking forward to answering our questions and trying to help us become better prepared for future solicitations. The discussion will be controlled by the participants so please come prepared with questions. Please refrain from asking questions related to past or specific solicitations as this is not intended to be a debrief or informational session.

A limit of 25 participants has been set in order to maintain the interactive nature of this roundtable discussion. If you are interested in participating, please send your request to Chris King at CKing@Golder.com by March 27, 2012. If over 25 responses are received we will select the participants by lottery. Only one participant from each sustainer is allowed. Those who attended the January 24th session are not eligible for this session.
